THE OFFICE QUEST – PRESS KIT

Every day in the office is the same, clicking the same keys, attending the same boring meetings, wearing the same fluffy monster onesies, until something strange and magical happens. Now you need to sneak away, no matter how! The Office Quest is a casual point-and-click adventure full of humor, for those who just cannot stay in the office any longer!

ABOUT THE GAME

The Office Quest is a casual point & click adventure game full of visual humor, puzzles, riddles, and earnest adults wearing fluffy onesies because why not. You play as an anonymous worker with an incredibly boring job. For the sake of simplicity, we will call it the Guy – if only because “an anonymous worker with an incredibly boring job” is a bit too long for a press kit.

One day, something strange and magical happens: a mysterious red light appears floating in front of the Guy. For some reason, he is irresistibly attracted to this light, and he has to follow it to discover what’s going on – and for that, he will have to slip away of his post, tricking bosses and colleagues into letting him leave the grey abyss they call the office.

Developed by Israeli indie studio 11Sheep, The Office Quest was first released on iOS and Android mobile devices with great success: the game has been downloaded more than 4 million times, has been featured by Apple and Google more than 20 times and reached Apple’s “Today” app.

KEY FEATURES

- Solve puzzles and riddles in a casual point & click adventure, challenging enough to put your ingenuity to the test, accessible enough to let you enjoy the ride!

- Enjoy a beautiful cartoonish art with comic-style environments and characters. This office may be boring, but boy, it is beautifully drawn!

- Meet eccentric, hilarious characters, from your grumpy, cigar-smoking boss to the annoying meeting-lover, and trick them into letting you slip away.

- Laugh with constant gags, from visual jokes to slapstick comedy, in an office where for some reason everyone wears fluffy monster-shaped onesies
